

QOFL 3 Controller's Comments

Wind Down is a difficult place to plan - there is a reasonably large area but the terrain itself is not overflowing with useful features - and so considerable credit must go to Steve for his hard work in preparing a very wide range of suitable courses. Not only did he do the planning but he made a number of updates to the map as we went along. Unfortunately the winter weather brought down a few more trees during December so there were a few additional rootstocks which made things more challenging.

Thank you very much to Jeff and the team for running things on the day and as always thanks to those of you who helped with control collection, especially as the weather got wetter as the afternoon went on.

Graham Hartley